Will CPI rise more than 0.0% in June 2026? (KXCPI-26JUN-T0.0)

Category: economy | Closes: 2026-07-14 13:56 UTC

My prob: 92.0% Confidence: high Market: 3.5% Edge: 88.5%

Lean: NONE Conviction: low

No actionable lean: 88pt gap exceeds the hard ceiling (20pt) — beyond this divergence from a liquid market, even high confidence is treated as model error, not edge (Indicative raw EV +$0.87/contract at my probability, not recommended.)

Rationale: The evidence strongly supports the likelihood of CPI rising more than 0.0% in June 2026. The May 2026 CPI is projected to rise 4.2% year-over-year, which is consistent with historical trends during periods of strong economic growth or supply shocks. Multiple reputable sources, including FactSet Insight, CNBC, and Morningstar, all indicate continued lofty inflation. These projections are also align

No actionable lean: 77pt gap exceeds the hard ceiling (20pt) — beyond this divergence from a liquid market, even high confidence is treated as model error, not edge (Indicative raw EV +$0.75/contract at my probability, not recommended.)

Rationale: The base rate for monthly CPI increases is typically small, often in the range of 0.1% to 0.3% in normal economic conditions. However, given the current global economic environment, including potential inflationary pressures from supply chain disruptions, rising energy prices, and strong consumer demand, the likelihood of a CPI increase exceeding 0.1% in June 2026 is elevated. Lean: NONE Conviction: low

No actionable lean: low confidence below the medium floor — estimate too uncertain to fade the market (Indicative raw EV +$0.55/contract at my probability, not recommended.)

Rationale: The question asks for the year-over-year CPI in June 2026, but no specific evidence or data points were provided in the 'facts' field of the evidence notes. The reference class for CPI trends typically includes historical inflation rates, central bank policies, and macroeconomic indicators. While sources like the Bureau of Labor Statistics and OECD are consulted, there is insufficient granular dat

No actionable lean: 22pt gap exceeds the hard ceiling (20pt) — beyond this divergence from a liquid market, even high confidence is treated as model error, not edge (Indicative raw EV +$0.19/contract at my probability, not recommended.)

Rationale: The evidence provided does not include any specific information about Mike Mazzei's current status, campaign activity, or support within the Oklahoma Republican Party. The lack of direct evidence makes it difficult to assess his likelihood of being the nominee. The reference class of similar political nomination races suggests that without clear signals of endorsement, fundraising, or strong publi

The absence of public information does not constitute evidence of low probability, and the divergence from the market suggests overconfidence. The posit (Indicative raw EV +$0.12/contract at my probability, not recommended.)

Rationale: There is currently no public evidence of any scandal or issue involving Graham Platner that would suggest he is likely to drop out of the 2026 Senate election in Maine before July 14, 2026. The lack of news coverage or reports from reputable sources indicates that no major developments have occurred that would compel him to withdraw. Lean: NONE Conviction: low

No actionable lean: no +EV value bet at the ask (my prob 53%, modal YES) — staying out. (Indicative raw EV +$0.02/contract at my probability, not recommended.)

Rationale: The evidence indicates that Toby Doeden is in a runoff with Larry Rhoden for the Republican nomination in South Dakota, which is a first in the state's history. While the outcome is uncertain, there is no clear evidence favoring one candidate over the other. The base rate suggests that such runoffs are rare, but the current situation is unprecedented, which introduces significant uncertainty. The

Lessons Learned

On down-ballot foreign nominations, do not diverge from a liquid market without ≥ 3 independent primary sources — now enforced by the Qwen-browser retrieval (>5 disparate).

Brier (mine): 0.1764 | Brier (market): 0.0182 | lost to market

Incumbent congressional primaries: anchor to the strong incumbent base rate unless ≥ 3 independent sources show a real threat.

RT-score threshold markets: pull multiple review-aggregator snapshots near close; a single snapshot is thin.

Even on near-certainties, log ≥ 3 independent sources so the rubric and audit trail hold.

For KXTRUMPSAY-style verbatim-utterance markets, resolution is a literal tracked quote from the resolution source, NOT topical salience — never forecast above the market without a CONFIRMED verbatim quote, and treat any 80pt fade against a liquid market as model error. This is exactly the case the new hard_gap_ceiling now hard-blocks regardless of confidence.

Brier (mine): 0.9801 | Brier (market): 0.0342 | lost to market

When diverging below a liquid market that is pricing a strong institutional base rate, require a specific, verifiable reason; narrative of 'division' is not evidence of a formally recorded dissent. Anchor on the base rate.

Brier (mine): 0.3364 | Brier (market): 0.1332 | lost to market

During an active supply-disruption crisis, anchor flow estimates to the SUPPRESSED regime, not an assumed recovery, until data confirms normalization; and do not enter a position when divergence from a liquid market is small and rests on an unverified assumption.

Brier (mine): 0.3721 | Brier (market): 0.2450 | lost to market

Never move a forecast materially on one noisy data point (esp. a single poll); weight by reliability and require corroboration. Don't recommend fading a liquid market on a low-confidence estimate.
